About LUCEO

LUCEO Technologies GmbH was created by engineers involved in electrical circuit and optical transceiver design, who recognized critical gaps in test and measurement equipment for optical component and transceiver characterization. Luceo's test system is the first to combine a complete BERT test solution, with affordable cost and German build quality. Targeted at high volume production test applications, Luceo's equipment optimizes speed and ease-of-use, allowing users to achieve minimum cost-per-test. Founded in 2005, Luceo is headquartered in Berlin, Germany. For more information, visit www.luceotec.com
